

CANADA CRIMSON

Visitor Opportunities

The Canada Program at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites proposals from Harvard departments and schools across the University for funding to host short-term visiting scholars and public figures who are engaged in Canadian comparative topics. Recent guests, whose presence on campus contributed to a greater understanding of Canada's role in North America, include Madame Justice Rosalie Abella of the Canadian Supreme Court and political philosopher, Charles Taylor.

Student Funding

Funding is available for Harvard graduate and undergraduate students whose studies are focused on Canadian topics. The Program offers term grants of up to $10,000; dissertation completion awards covering tuition, fees, health insurance, including generous stipends of $25,000; and support for summer travel and research-related expenses.

Since 2008, the Canada Program has granted more than $500,000 in funding for dissertation and thesis research conducted by Harvard graduate and undergraduate students—some of whom are engaged in research concerning government, law, sociology, history, music, education, public health, and urban design.

THE WCFIA CANADA PROGRAM

programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

WCFIA Canada Program
Center for Government
and International Studies
1727 Cambridge Street, E208
Cambridge, MA 02138
(617) 495-3671
canada@wcfia.harvard.edu

Weatherhead Center
FOR INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

CANADA HARVARD

Visitor Opportunities

The Canada Program at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites proposals from Harvard departments and schools across the University for funding to host short-term visiting scholars and public figures who are engaged in Canadian comparative topics. Recent guests, whose presence on campus contributed to a greater understanding of Canada's role in North America, include Madame Justice Rosalie Abella of the Canadian Supreme Court and political philosopher, Charles Taylor.

Student Funding

Funding is available for Harvard graduate and undergraduate students whose studies are focused on Canadian topics. The Program offers term grants of up to $10,000; dissertation completion awards covering tuition, fees, health insurance, including generous stipends of $25,000; and support for summer travel and research-related expenses.

Since 2008, the Canada Program has granted more than $500,000 in funding for dissertation and thesis research conducted by Harvard graduate and undergraduate students—some of whom are engaged in research concerning government, law, sociology, history, music, education, public health, and urban design.

THE WCFIA CANADA PROGRAM
programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

Weatherhead Center
FOR INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

HARVARD
UNIVERSITY

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

WCFIA Canada Program

Center for Government
and International Studies
1727 Cambridge Street, E208
Cambridge, MA 02138
(617) 495-3671
canada@wcfia.harvard.edu

